

Polsinelli Continues Health Care M&A Expansion with Addition of Five Shareholders

(June 24, 2026) Polsinelli is pleased to announce that Matthew S. Miller has joined as a shareholder in the firm's Nashville office and Muthuramanan "Ramana" Rameswaran has joined as a shareholder in Dallas. These additions underscore Polsinelli's continued leadership and growing influence in the national health care M&A market following the recent arrivals of Shareholders Jon T. Beeman in Kansas City, Daniel C. Fundakowski in Raleigh and Jonathan D. Salm in Fort Lauderdale.

"Matt's practice fits perfectly with us as we continue to focus our growth at the intersection of health care and private equity" said Chase Simmons, Chairman and CEO of Polsinelli. "He also will be a great addition to the explosive success and amazing culture that we have enjoyed in Nashville."

Miller represents health care organizations, private equity investors and growth-focused companies in mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, equity investments and strategic reorganizations. His practice focuses on sophisticated transactions involving provider platforms, ambulatory surgery centers, physician practices, value-based care businesses and other health care services organizations.

Rameswaran advises health care organizations, investors and provider platforms on the regulatory and transactional issues that shape strategic growth, alignment and operational integration. Drawing on experience inside hospital systems and the pharmaceutical industry, he counsels physician groups, hospitals, health systems and private equity-backed health care organizations on mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, affiliation models and complex organizational structures.

"Matt's broad experience handling complex health care transactions and Ramana's practical understanding of the regulatory and operational considerations that shape deals in this industry make them outstanding additions to the firm," said Andy Voss, Co-Chair of Polsinelli's Health Care Mergers & Acquisitions Practice. "He has advised on a wide range of transformative transactions across the health care continuum and brings significant depth to our practice."

In addition to his transactional practice, Miller also advises clients on the regulatory and operational considerations that can affect deal execution in the health care industry, including compliance, governance and strategic growth matters. He also counsels private equity sponsors and portfolio companies on investment transactions, venture financings and other corporate matters.

"I was drawn to Polsinelli because of the strength of its health care M&A platform and the thoughtful way the firm is continuing to invest in this space," said Miller. "Clients are looking for counsel who understand not only the transaction, but also the regulatory, operational and strategic considerations that drive long-term success. Polsinelli has built a team that can support clients across that full continuum, and I'm grateful for the opportunity to be part of it."

Miller is also an active writer and speaker on legal and business issues affecting the health care industry and broader business community. He earned his J.D. from Fordham University School of Law and his B.S. from the United States Merchant Marine Academy.
