Darius Niknamfard represents corporations, private equity funds, family offices and other entities in buying, selling and leasing a full spectrum of real estate holdings across the United States, including office, industrial, hospital, shopping center and senior living properties.

He has significant experience in the health care sector, guiding hospital systems, senior living operators, medical groups, skilled nursing operators and nonprofits in real estate transactions. Darius also advises companies looking to downsize their real estate footprint, helping them negotiate strategic and cost-effective lease exits.
