Douglas Hathaway advises private equity, venture capital, real estate and hedge fund sponsors on the formation, structuring, capital raising and ongoing operation of investment funds and other alternative investment vehicles. He represents established and emerging investment managers pursuing domestic and international strategies, including buyout equity, distressed debt, fund of funds and other alternative investments. His practice also includes advising registered investment funds on regulatory compliance, filings and matters involving their independent boards.

Doug also counsels new and established investment advisers on regulatory and compliance matters, drawing on his prior experience as an attorney adviser with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC). At the SEC, he conducted complex examinations of investment advisers and investment companies, analyzed securities laws and regulations and provided guidance and training to SEC staff on private fund-related matters.

Before entering private practice, Doug served in the U.S. Army as an intelligence analyst and worked for the Federal Bureau of Investigation in intelligence and operations.
