

International Intellectual Property

Polsinelli's Intellectual Property Department includes a cross-functional team of attorneys who serve all of our clients' intellectual property needs in various technologies worldwide. Our clients rely on our expansive experience and knowledge to achieve holistic strategies – from due diligence to filing, development, enforcement, defense and beyond – in venues around the world, all within a single law firm.

Our team is regularly called upon by clients to serve as international counsel and advise on intellectual property matters and strategies that span across multiple worldwide jurisdictions. Our IP attorneys are familiar with international clients' cultures and their corporate needs through our own representations and relationships, so that we are able to serve the international clients better. In addition, we engage with the international community via direct interaction with clients from across the world, as well as through our extensive network of international law firms. Our relationships with foreign associates allow us to receive and understand the latest developments within the international marketplace, and our attorneys regularly meet with and partner with our foreign associates to create the worldwide portfolios that our clients demand. Similarly, our many foreign associates seek our attorneys' national competence for their clients' U.S. filing strategies. Our comprehensive approach helps clients maximize their IP portfolios and advance their business objectives.

Clients find that Polsinelli speaks their language: our team's diverse backgrounds and skill sets allow us to speak to our clients in their native tongue; establish connections through shared backgrounds and perspectives; and leverage our acumen and technical prowess; to guide them through their most complex issues. We work every day to support our clients' broad needs abroad.
