Laura Angelini is a seasoned trial lawyer with a national practice defending health care organizations and executives in high-stakes government investigations. She represents clients in civil, criminal and administrative actions involving the False Claims Act, Anti-Kickback Statute, Stark Law, HIPAA and other core fraud and abuse laws. Her matters frequently involve alleged Medicare and Medicaid billing violations, off-label promotion, drug diversion and patient privacy breaches.

Laura's clients include pharmaceutical and medical device manufacturers and distributors, hospitals and academic medical centers, behavioral health organizations, physician practice groups and licensed professionals. She also counsels educational institutions, faculty and students in Title IX and campus misconduct proceedings, particularly where civil or criminal liability is at stake. Outside of health care, Laura has handled enforcement matters in the construction, public procurement, securities and financial services sectors.
