Mark Dawson supports the Health Care practice with an emphasis on Government Investigations and white-collar criminal defense. His responsibilities include managing complex litigation matters, document productions and other departmental support.

Before joining Polsinelli, Mark worked as an advertising copywriter and then as an editor of a newsletter for a law firm in Washington, D.C. He has been in the legal field for more than 30 years and has a strong electronic database background. He has assisted in several high-profile litigation matters, including representing the state in a civil case regarding a highway shooter and a government official in a criminal trial. Many of which involved large document productions and the use of computer databases.
