Mike Fisher's practice spans the full lifecycle of real estate transactions, including acquisitions and dispositions of commercial real estate, leasing, financing, joint ventures and corporate structuring.

Mike advises owners, developers and investors in negotiating and documenting purchase, sale and membership agreements, project construction financing and permanent financing, and build-to-suit leases or sale agreements in jurisdictions nationwide.

Drawing on deep experience across asset classes including industrial, multifamily, office and retail, he combines business insight with legal precision. By investing the time to understand how his clients operate, the factors that drive their business and their tolerance for risk, he focuses on delivering forward-looking advice that aligns with their strategic objectives.

With a strong grasp of how deals evolve through each stage of the project life cycle, he structures transactions that adapt to shifting market conditions, nuanced and evolving deal terms and position clients to capitalize on emerging trends. As a skilled negotiator, Mike navigates complex deal structures without losing site of his client's long-term strategies and goals. Known for his steady, practical guidance, he helps clients seize opportunities and achieve successful outcomes, making him a trusted partner in the commercial real estate industry.
